Trump vows 'no going back' on Greenland Israel demolishes UN property in east Jerusalem

• Shares leaked tests & AI tech • EU sees opportunity to build 'new independent Europe' • Bessent urges leaders to calm down

DANIEL US President Donald Trump said on Tuesday there is "no going back" on his decision to pull the US out of the Paris climate agreement, referring to the deal as "a bad deal" and saying the US is "not alone" in withdrawing.

Trump's announcement — which came in a social media post and a speech to Congress — is seen as a major setback for the Paris deal, which was signed by 195 countries in 2015.

It has also threatened to trigger a trade war with Europe, which has vowed to impose tariffs on countries that do not join the deal.

Trump's Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent pushed back against what he called "hypocritical" criticism of the move.

"As I expressed to members, very plainly, I am not a hypocrite," he said. "I am a realist."

European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen, speaking at the annual World Economic Forum in Davos, which Trump is also due to attend this week, said it is "not a matter of if, but when" the US will rejoin the deal.

"The climate change we are going through now is an opportunity, in fact, a necessity to build a new form of European independence," she said.

"We will only be able to cooperate on this opportunity if we recognize that this change is permanent," she added.

(JERUSALEM) Israeli soldiers have demolished the headquarters of the UN Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in East Jerusalem on Tuesday in what the agency described as a "premeditated attack" and a "serious violation of international law."

UNRWA spokesman Jonathan Tucker said that Israeli forces "intentionally" destroyed the agency's headquarters and a "serious violation of international law."

"This is an unprovoked and unprovoked attack against UNRWA and its personnel. And it also constitutes a serious violation of international law and the principles and objectives of the United Nations," he said.

"We hope Israel will accept its responsibility for this attack and will take steps to ensure that such an incident never happens again."

UNRWA spokesman Jonathan Tucker said that Israeli forces "intentionally" destroyed the agency's headquarters and a "serious violation of international law."
