The management of the Company has carefully reviewed the matter and confirms that there is no material, price-sensitive information, development, decision, transaction, or corporate action that has not already been disclosed to the public and that could have resulted in the observed movement in the price or volume of the Company's shares.
2. The Company has neither undertaken nor initiated any activity, directly or indirectly, that may have influenced or caused the said unusual movement. To the best of our knowledge, the movement appears to be market-driven and attributable to independent trading decisions of shareholders or investors, over which the Company has no control.
