5. RISK FACTORS

5.1 RISK ASSOCIATED WITH THE RIGHT ISSUE

Undersubscription Risk

The Right Issue is being carried out at a price which is less than the prevailing market price of the Company's share, and accordingly there is no major investment risk associated with the Right Issue. The substantial shareholders and directors of the Company have confirmed in writing that they shall subscribe to (or arrange the subscription of) their respective right entitlements, while the balance portion of the Right Issue will be underwritten in accordance with the applicable laws. Notwithstanding the foregoing, there is a risk that the Right Issue may get undersubscribed due to lack of interest from shareholders of the Company.

Dilution Risk Shareholders who do not subscribe to their entitlement, in whole or in part, and who do not dispose of their Letters of Right in the market, will experience a proportionate reduction in their percentage shareholding in the Company. As a result of the fresh issue of shares at par value of Rs. 10.00/- per share, the net asset / break-up value per share is expected to move from Rs. 16.65 pre-issue to Rs.14.85 post-issue, a change of (10.8%), and earnings per share will be diluted. However, the incremental impact of earnings from the right issue proceeds is expected to partially off-set the impact on earnings and book value.

Price Risk

Price risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices (other than those arising from interest rate risk or foreign currency risk), whether those changes are caused by factors specific to the individual financial instrument or its issuer, or factors affecting all similar financial instruments traded in the market. The Company's listed securities are susceptible to market price risk arising from uncertainties about the future value of investment securities. The Company limits market risk by maintaining a diversified portfolio and by continuous monitoring of developments in equity market.

5.2 RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH ISSUER

A. Internal Risk Factors

Insurance Risk

OFFER DOCUMENT

The Company is a registered insurance Company under the Insurance Ordinance, 2000. The Insurance Ordinance and the Insurance Rules, 2017 require an insurance Company to be solvent at all times. As of December 31, 2025, the Company exceeded solvency requirement by an amount of 85m. The Company continues to be in compliance with the solvency requirements, hence, financially the Company is in a strong position to cover the insurance risk undertaken by it.

The risk under any one insurance contract is the possibility that the insured event occurs and the uncertainty of the amount of the resulting claim. By the very nature of an insurance contract, this risk is random and therefore unpredictable. The principal risk that the Company faces under its insurance contracts is that the actual claims exceed the carrying amount of the insurance liabilities. This could occur because the frequency or severity of claims is greater than estimated. Insurance events are random, and the actual number and amount of claims will vary from year to year from the level established.

Based on past experience, management is of the view that the larger the portfolio of similar insurance contracts, the smaller the relative variability about the expected outcome is. In addition, a more diversified portfolio is less likely to be affected by a change in any subset of the portfolio. The Company has developed its insurance underwriting strategy to diversify the type of insurance risks accepted and within each of these categories to achieve a sufficiently large population of risks to reduce the variability of the expected outcome.

Factors that aggravate insurance risk include lack of risk diversification in terms of type and amount of risk, geographical location and type of industry covered.

Credit Risk

Credit risk is the risk that a counterparty to a financial instrument will fail to discharge its contractual obligations, resulting in a financial loss to the Company. The Company is exposed to credit risk primarily in respect of policyholder receivables, reinsurance recoveries, bank balances, investments and other financial assets. The Company manages its credit risk by monitoring credit exposures, assessing the creditworthiness of counterparties and, where appropriate, undertaking transactions with a diversified range of counterparties across different industries and sectors. Credit exposures are regularly reviewed to identify any deterioration in the financial position or credit quality of counterparties. Concentration of credit risk arises when a number of counterparties are engaged in similar business activities or operate in the same geographical or economic environment, such that changes in economic, political or other conditions may affect their ability to meet contractual obligations in a similar manner. The Management monitors concentrations of credit risk and takes appropriate measures to limit excessive exposure to any individual counterparty, industry or sector.

Actuarial and Mortality Risk

Actual mortality/morbidity experience under the Company's personal accident, health and group life-linked covers may deviate from pricing and reserving assumptions, particularly given limited localized Pakistani actuarial data. This is mitigated through actuarial valuations under SECP's Insurance Rules, 2017, periodic experience studies and reinsurance.

Investment Risk

Returns on the Company's PSX, PIB/T-Bill and KIBOR-linked holdings may be lower than expected given the relative volatility of Pakistan's capital markets and interest rate environment. This is managed through a Board approved, SECP compliant Investment Policy, diversification, and regular monitoring by the Investment Committee

Longevity Risk

To the limited extent the Company's personal accident, health and group life-linked covers carry longevity features, policyholders living longer than assumed could increase benefit payment periods. This is mitigated through conservative actuarial assumptions and reinsurance.

Compliance Risk

Failure to comply with the Insurance Ordinance, 2000, Insurance Rules, 2017, SECP directives, or applicable provincial requirements (including provincial sales tax on insurance services) could result in sanctions or reputational harm. This is managed through a dedicated compliance function, regulatory monitoring and staff training.

Catastrophe Risk

Pakistan's high exposure to monsoon flooding (as seen nationally in 2022), earthquakes and cyclones could give rise to correlated claims exceeding expectations. This is managed through prudent underwriting limits, portfolio diversification and catastrophe reinsurance with reputable international reinsurers.

Surrender / Lapse Risk

Policyholders may lapse or fail to renew earlier than assumed, driven by affordability pressures from inflation and PKR depreciation or competitive pricing, affecting expected income and reserve adequacy. This is mitigated through ongoing persistency monitoring and prudent lapse assumptions in pricing and reserving.

Social Inflation Risk

Claims costs may rise beyond general inflation due to PKR depreciation raising the cost of imported spare parts and materials, medical inflation, and greater claims propensity. This is monitored on an ongoing basis and factored into pricing, reserving and reinsurance strategy.

Financial Crime Risk

Fraud, money laundering or other financial crime involving the Company, employees, policyholders or counterparties poses loss and reputational risk, heightened by Pakistan's FATF grey-list history. This is mitigated through KYC/AML policies, internal controls and compliance with SECP's AML/CFT Regulations, 2020.

External Risk Factors

Market Risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate as a result of change in market variable such as interest / mark up rate, foreign exchange rate and equity prices. The objective is to manage and control market risk exposures within acceptable parameters, while optimizing the return. The market risks associated with the Company’s business activities are interest / mark up rate risk and price risk.

Interest / Mark-up Rate Risk

Interest / mark-up rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of financial instruments will fluctuate due to changes in the market interest / mark up rates. The Company invests in securities and has deposits that are subject to interest / mark up rates risk. The Company limits interest / mark up rate risk by monitoring changes in interest / mark up rates in the currencies in which its cash and investments are denominated. The Company’s financial liabilities are not exposed to interest / mark up rate risk.

Foreign Exchange Risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk that fair value or future cash flows of financial instruments will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. The Company, at present, is not materially exposed to currency risk as majority of the transactions are carried out in Pak Rupees.

PESTEL Instability Risk:

Political shifts, PKR depreciation, domestic inflation and IMF-linked macroeconomic conditions, low insurance penetration, cyber/digitization trends, Pakistan's high exposure to monsoon flooding, and changes to SECP or provincial tax regulations may, individually or together, affect the Company's underwriting results, investment income, solvency and share valuation. The Company mitigates this through a diversified, PKR-weighted admissible-asset portfolio, active monitoring of the regulatory and macroeconomic environment, adequate reinsurance and capital buffers above SECP's minimum requirements, and proactive engagement with the SECP and industry bodies.

Legal / Regulatory Risk

Changes in corporate, taxation, import, customs, labour, environmental, product, consumer protection and other applicable laws and regulations may affect the Company's operations and cost structure. The Company monitors applicable legal and regulatory requirements and maintains appropriate compliance processes.

Mitigation Measures: The Company intends to manage market risk through prudent asset allocation, diversification across eligible investment instruments, and periodic monitoring of market trends and portfolio performance. Investment decisions will be made in accordance with the Company's approved investment policy, risk appetite, liquidity requirements, and applicable regulatory limits. The Company will also periodically review its portfolio to assess risk concentration and make adjustments where considered appropriate. The Company will monitor domestic and international economic developments and assess their potential impact on investment valuations and returns. Investment decisions will take into account prevailing economic conditions, market outlook, risk-return characteristics, and the Company's investment objectives. The Company may adjust its asset allocation, investment exposure, and investment tenor, as appropriate, to manage the potential impact of adverse economic and financial market developments.
